

At Niagara University, we are committed to serving children and families in our community. We believe that the ability to read not only affords opportunities, but enriches lives!

Graduate students in the College of Education's Advanced Literacy program and undergraduate students studying literacy offer free evaluations of literacy skills and remediation for students. Each family will receive results from the initial evaluation in the form of a diagnostic report along with recommendations for future instructional support. Families who make the commitment to attend the instructional sessions will see their child receive services in a one-on-one setting.
