SUMMER READING 2024

Dear Parents,

For summer reading, please read at least ten books with your child. The list below gives my suggestions, but you are free to help your child choose other books as well. Please have your child draw a picture of their favorite story, being sure to write their name as well as the title of the story. Please send this to school during our first week. Most of these books can be found at the Grand Island Library or borrowed through interlibrary loan. I truly appreciate the time you will spend reading with your child. I hope it is enjoyable and that you find some new favorite stories!

Happy Reading,

Mrs. May

SWEET TIPS FOR READING SUCCESS

Read together every day.

The early years are critical to developing a lifelong love of reading. You can't start reading to a child too soon. Read to your child every day. Make this a warm and loving time when the two of you can cuddle close together. Bedtime is an especially great time for reading together.

Say how much you enjoy reading together.

Tell your child how much you enjoy reading with him or her. Look forward to this time you spend together. Talk about "story time" as the favorite part of your day.

Read with fun in your voice.

Read to your child with humor and expression. Use different voices for different characters. Ham it up!

Know when to stop.

If your child loses interest or has trouble paying attention, just put the book away for a while. Don't continue reading if your child is not enjoying it.

Be interactive.

Engage your child so he or she will actively listen to a story. Discuss what's happening, point out things on the page, and answer your child's questions. Ask questions of your own and listen to your child's responses.

Read it again and again and again.

Your child will probably want to hear a favorite story over and over. Go ahead and read the same book for the 100th time! Research suggests that repeated readings help children develop language skills.

Talk about writing, too.

Draw your child's attention to the way writing works. When looking at a book together, point out how we read from left to right and how words are separated by spaces.

Point out print everywhere.

Talk about the written words you see in the world around you and respond with interest to your child's questions about words. Ask him or her to find a new word every time you go on an outing.

Say silly tongue twisters

Sing songs, read rhyming books, and say silly tongue twisters. These help kids become sensitive to the sounds in words.

Read it and experience it

Connect what your child reads with what happens in life. If reading a book about animals, relate it to your last trip to the zoo.
